MEMORANDUM FOR: B. F. McMahon, Jr. 3/15/77
Commander, U.S. Navy

SUBJECT : President's Address to the UN

None of the offices queried in response to your request - specifically, CIA production officers, the NIOs, and the IC Staff - feel that they have anything unique to contribute on this subject. The attached memorandum from the DDI notes two topics which, although certain to be covered by State, are of such importance in the UN environment that they deserve special attention.

SUBJECT : Suggested Topics for President's Address, to the UN

1. For the most part, CIA production offices feel they can add very little to what they expect State to suggest. Two topics, however, were identified which are considered to be of growing importance to the developed and developing nations alike:

--the quest for secure access to scarce resources,

~~the~~ its the willingness of the developed nations to share its modern technology and industrial know-how with the LDCs.

2. These two subjects are closely linked and are becoming more important as the North-South dialogue deepens.
